

Possible Dialogue in Offering the Gift of Family History to a Friend

Always show a copy of the Gift of Family History packet you have prepared for yourself.

You might say something like this: “Let me show you something we’ve just done in our family. As you know our ancestors are very important to us and our Church emphasizes gathering the histories of our ancestors. They have taught me how to find out who some of my ancestors are and to put this book together for my family. It includes information about my ancestors and also talks about making family history an important part our lives and why we should do family history. Now that I know how to do this, I would like to do some research to see if I can find who some of your ancestors are and put this book together for your family. Would you be willing to let me do that?”
